TECH'S OUTLOOK FOR N. E. INTERCOLLEGIATES

Probable Point Winners Have Been Picked By Coach Kanaly

On Friday and Saturday, May 20th and 21st, the 24th annual track meet of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association will be held at Tech Field, Brookline. Twelve colleges enter teams in this meet and all of them send the very best men they have on the track and field.

Last year Dartmouth took first place with 32 1-2 points; Technology coming in second with 27. Williams and Bowdoin both scored over 20 points, and Amherst, Brown, Wesleyan, Maine, Tufts, and Vermont divided the other points in the order named. Dartmouth is again picked for first this year, but they will be pushed closely by Tech, Amherst, and Williams. Wesleyan finished seventh last year, but this year they are considerably stronger and are expected to be a strong factor.

To show how Technology stands in regard to this year's meet, Coach Kanaly gives this dope as to the outcome of the meet. This is based on the performances in last year's intercollegiates and the work of the men—both new and experienced—during the winter. So many star men are entered this year that several records will probably go this spring.

In the 100-yards dash, Sherman of Dartmouth is looked upon as a sure winner, with Robson of Wesleyan second. Robson secured second in this event last year. Roberts of Amherst or Kelly of Williams will take third. Roberts was not entered last year, but has showed up well this winter, being the lowest mark man to place in the 60-yard dash at the Columbia University games; and is even considered as a likely man for second place. Kelly took third in this event last year. Pinkett of Amherst was fourth last year and will be a factor again. He ran well this winter at the Columbia games. Hartigan is hailed by Brown as their fastest man. He was reported as fast last year but was injured just before the Intercollegiate meet.

Sherman is again picked to win the 220-yard dash. Kelly (Amherst), who took second place last year and Alexander of Williams, who came in fourth, will surely place. Roberts of Amherst is an unknown quantity, but he looks likely for a place. Robson if in form will push Sherman hard and is the logical man for second place.

Bacon of Wesleyan, who won the 440-yard dash, is back again this year, and will probably repeat his win. Swartz of Tufts ran second last year and is again running well and expected to improve. In 1906 he ran the fastest heat of the meet, and being an experience man will certainly bear watching. Salisbury (Tech) secured third last year and should be able to better that position. Littlefield of Maine showed improvement in the B. A. A. games and will crowd competition for a place. He was fourth man last year. Wendall, Wood, and Hastings, all Wesleyan men, are worthy of notice in picking the places, as all of them showed up in fine form at the Columbia games. Francis of Dartmouth is a dangerous man. He broke down in the finals of the 600-yard novice race at the Columbia games, after running his preliminary heat handily, but should be better in the 440. Schlee of Wesleyan, who won the 600-yard at Columbia, undoubtedly will bear watching, and Hall of Dartmouth is also talked of as a crack distance man, having brought a reputation with him from Michigan.

In the 880-yard run, White (Tech) and Fortier (Maine), who took first and second last year, are again running, but if the prediction of the dopesters in the New York papers is true, Barloe of Dartmouth will push them for first place. Lester of Williams, who was third last year, is back and is a strong factor. Last year he won the fastest preliminary heat and he should be capable of repating his work this year. Dartmouth is expected to have a good man under cover for this event, and from the number of places their men have been taking in New York City and State meets, are to be considered as probable to take a place.

In the mile, Colbath of Bowdoin is consistent and should give his college first place again this year. Watkins (M. I. T.) looks good for second place and if able to devote more time to his training should push Colbath dangerously. A new comer is Newton of Williams, who showed rare form this winter and must be kept in view. He ran second in the mile at the B. A. A. games. Spokefield and Noyes, both of Dartmouth, have improved and at a recent New York 1500-meter run showed speed by wining over a good field. Jones of Dartmouth is fast as is shown by his running second in the N. Y. A. C. mile from 60 yards, in 4 min. 25 sec.

Howland's loss to Tech in the two-mile leaves a gap hard to fill, and with Slocum of Bowdoin still in the game, it looks like first place for Bowdoin. Slocum's form two years ago stamped him as a first place prediction. Greene (Brown) pushed Howland to the tape last year and is a strong game runner who will take lots of beating. Colbath and Watkins should hardly have placed last year after such a race in the mile, and will probably be defeated this year. Dartmouth has some men who showed up well in the cross-country championships, and as they will start fresh against men who have already raced a mile, will probbly take the second and third places.

The 120-yard hurdles offer the best chance for new first and second place winners. Edwards of Bowdoin, Marble of Brown, and Smith of Maine are a trio of former third and fourth place winners and will probably push to the front. Edwards ran second in the fastest heat last year. Dartmouth again looks strong in this event as they have some experienced men to follow into the places of last year's placed men.

Edwards is the probable winner of the 220-yard hurdles. Marble (Brown) and Stevens (Williams) took places in their heats last year and will fight for second place again. There is a good chance for new men to take the other places in this event.

The high jump is practically assured to Palmer of Dartmouth. Dalrymple (M. I. T.) looks likely for second place, but in Burlingame of Bowdoin he will have to look for trouble as when in shape Burlingame is good for at least five feet and ten inches. McKay o. Brown and Swain of Williams were only three-fourths of an inch behind last year and will need attention in figuring this pear's places. Capt. Allen of Tech, who tied for fourth last year, will have to improve considerably to repeat his performance this year, as sickness has prevented his attending to his specialty this winter.

Sherman (Dartmouth) should win the broad jump, and Nash (Amherst) and Guthrie (Vermont) should follow on merit of last year, but sprinters from Amherst, Dartmouth, Wesleyan, and Williams may develop into dangerous contestants in this event. This event is dangerous at best, as is shown by Sherman's injury last year, which necesssitated his withdrawing from a sure win in the 100-yard and 200-yard dashes. Many colleges do not care to risk their sprinters in the broad jump.

The pole vault is conceded to Holdman of Dartmouth, because of his win last year, but Allen of Technology is always a game and steady performer, and he should again take second and possibly reach Holdman. There is no good chance to dope this event on account of the lack of indoor competition, but the last two places will probably be fought between Jenks of Dartmouth and Demming of Brown. This event also offers a good chance for new comers.

There is likely to be a new winner of the shot-put in Frank of Brown. However, Killian of Amherst and his teammate Kooyumjian have improved considerably, and this means that any new winner must reach forty-one feet at

DO ACTIVITIES NEED A FINANCE COMMISSION?

Representatives Meet To Decide Existence And Powers Of New Body

This afternoon will be made the third attempt to summons the representatives from the various activities to a joint meeting with the Institute Committee to consider the question of appointing a committee of graduate men to advise the activites on finance matters, and to so arrange affairs that they will not get beyond their depth.

The meeting will be held at 4.15 in room A of the Union. At the last meeting held it was decided that some sort of a committee should be formed, but the great difficulty and bone of contention between the representatives of the various organizations was what powers the committee should have. All were agreed that some sort of definite duties should be given but no one was exactly decided as to how far it would be advisable to let responsibility be taken off from the shoulders of the members of the activities.

Since the committee met articles have been drawn up specifying powers and these will be submitted this afternoon.

DEAN BURTON SPEAKS AT T. C. A. DINNER

Calls J. P. Munroe 1882, Type Of Man Best Fitted To Act As Leader Of Men

Last evening the T. C. A. held its weekly dinner in the Union. There were not quite as many there as usual, but all enjoyed a thoroughly good talk. Dean Burton was the speaker, and he took for his subject, "What the New Christian Association Can Do for Technology Life." Mr. Mason announced the speaker for next week as Mr. James D. Munroe, 1882, and then introduced the Dean. Dean Burton said that Mr. Munroe was a very good example for any T. C. A. member to follow, and that he fully illustrated his subject. He said that Mr. Munroe had done very much for the Institute. When the Technology Club was just being started, Mr. Munroe became interested and made it what it now is. He obtained speakers to address the club, such as F. Marion Crawford, who could hardly be expected to be in sympathy with a technical life. In fact Mr. Munroe had many men for speakers who spoke before various literary clubs around heee.

In Poorly Played 4-Inning Game 1913 Defeats High School By Score Of 15--6

The Freshmen beat Roxbury Latin High School a four-inning game yesterday afternoon at Tech Field, by the score of 15 to 6. Darkness prevented the finishing of the game. The Freshmen were unable to get excused from drill and the game did not start until 4.15. The game was very losely played and the teams showed the need of much practice, in team work especially. Elwell and Severance played fine games for the Freshmen and Littlefield and Smith starred for Roxbury Latin.

Crocker sustained an injury to his knees in the last inning, while sliding for home. The following is a summary of the game:

One of the greatest arguments against the Finance Commission is that it will remove some of the responsibility from the shoulders of the participants in the activities. Although this latter is one of the best benefits to be derived from participation in activities, does it necessarily follow that the responsibility will be shifted? Will it not be more definitely placed?

The first idea that should be aimed for in the arrangement of our activities is that they should be carried on in as businesslike a manner as is consistent with the other interests of study at the Institute. If this committee can so aid the activities that they can carry out their work in a simpler and more efficient manner, without being bound down too firmly, nothing better could be done for them or the Institute.

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor of The Tech:—

Puerility we generally attribute to the freshman who in the exuberance of his youth is forgiven for his general lack of acquaintance with the world. Sometimes it takes more than one year to attain the dignity of a sophomore socially as well as academically. It is the regrettable fact that the scholar often neglects to adapt himself to the demands of the world of the grown man while he brings his brain to a high tension on scientific matters. Many are aged in the knowledge of books, while they remain boys in the knowledge of men.

Such has been the case of one of our well beloved comrades. Standing high in his classes to the exclusion of all that which tones the machine made man to the cultured human, his mind sharply focused as it is on science, has failed to grasp what the poor world calls "Horse Sense." No doubt he is postponing the acquirement of this asset until a future date.

We refer to the recent campaign which our most worthy brother carried on against the wearing of hats in the Union. Well meaning in his endeavor to promote proper consideration for the alumnus who did so much towards the building of the Union he conceived the idea that this individual, whom he did not name, would be insulted unless we uncovered in the Union. Perhaps the Union committeeman had been reading of the Chinese ancestor worship. Perhaps he thought of himself in the same position as the alumnus when he should command sufficient respect to have men doff their bonnets as European peasantry do to their monarchs when they entered His Union.

On serious consideration he must realize how boyish this idea appeared to the alumnus in question. A business man he must have been to reach a high enough pinnacle of success to gather sufficient store of this world's goods to give pecuniary support to the building of the Union. Was not the Union conceived as a place for a man student to take comfort, to relax from the demands of the class-room? And yet a student must be as careful in propriety as he would be in the presence of ladies or in his own parlor. How many of the real select men's clubs of the city, we wonder, had our committee visited? The clubs of the type of the university and the Tennis and Racquet, which he must acknowledge include in their membership men to whom conventionality comes as second nature and the members wear their hats in the reading rooms if they so desire. It is true that the topper may be a silk one, but does this alter the case? Certainly even our committee man will admit that if men like Eben S. Draper, Butler Ames, Henry L. Higginson, or others of the type, wear their hats in their clubs it is not a shocking insult to the charter members who built the club house. Or perhaps these gray-haired venerables who are looked up to by thousands might take a lesson from our gentlemanly committeeman.

D. N. F.

Editor of The Tech:—

After making some inquiry amongst Junior Students regarding the position of the seats allotted to them by the Tech Show Committee, I find many comparatively poor seats allotted to the Juniors. Such seats as "S" and "T" down stairs, and approximately the last seats in the galleries. I would like to ask the Tech Show Committee that if it is necessary by the printed rules of allotment to seat the Junior Class near the rear of the house, where have they seated the Freshman Class and the Sophomore Class? Standing room only?

TECH'S OUTLOOK

least. Newman (Bowdoin) and Chamberlain (Tech) who tied for third last year will be considered for fourth place this year. Prickett of Amherst looked to be next in line last year but this event seems to be in the way of an upset by dark horses.

The 16-pound hammer throw is an unknown event, last year's winner being unable to compete. There is always the chance of powerful football men working into this event and upsetting calculations. Tilney of Dartmouth was a crack schoolboy champion who was catered to by many large colleges, and he may secure a place.

Kooyumjian of Amherst should win the discus throw, with Killian of Amherst second. Hanna of Wesleyan, Frank of Brown, and Smith of Bowdoin have all showed good form and will probably divide the other points.

Coach Kanaly says that with such star men already likely for contestants Technology seems to be in need of an awakening to the fact that even to equal last year's performance of getting second place it means the applying of personal, conscientious effort at once and the showing of a proper spirit of sportsmanship. Tech should not only try for a repetition of last year but should make efforts to defeat all the colleges, so that after the meet she may look back upon the defeat of all competitors. This vision, however, now seems to be assured to others.

DEAN BURTON SPEAKS

When the subject of uniting with nique.

Mr. Munroe shows the spirit that a T C. A. man should have. That is, he had active thoughts and led an active life. He always said and did what he thought best and impressed and led everyone by his enthusiasm and determination.

A. T. C. A. member should not be afraid of expressing his opinion, even if it seems most impractical at the time. When years after, he looks back upon these experiences he will find that those which seemed furthest from the question at the time are the ones that have done the most good and made the best impression. One should always be led by one's own convictions and not influenced by the crowd. The strongest and best thinking men are those who have convictions of some kind or other and these are the ones who lead others. Harvard came up for discussion he did his best work and gave his best thought to the question. Harvard at this time had received a bequest for a technical school and she was willing to share it with the Institute by uniting. When the corporation took up the matter they thought they were the only ones to be consulted but Mr. Munroe obtained the opinion of over four thousand alumni and at the reunion and dinner it was hown to be the unanimous opinion that the alumni did not want a union with Harvard. Thus the matter was practically settled.

In many other things like these Mr. Munroe has been the leader and has carried them forward in his best manner. He was at one time Secertary of the Institute and combined in this office the duties of the present Recorder, Registrar, Bursar and Dean. He perfomed this duty so well that he was christened "Jim the Penman" by Tech-

Pensacola, Fla., April 7.—A speed in excess of thirty-five miles an hour for four consecutive hours was the record made Tuesday in the gulf by the torpedo boat Flusser of the seventh torpedo flotilla. The vessel carried a board of naval officers making a final inspection and speed test of the five new destroyers which recently reached here. The speed is the greatest ever attained by a naval vessel of the United States.

Boston, April 7.—Mayor Fitzgerald has recived word that former Mayor Hibbard will acept the offer of the city collectorship.
